

SENATORS FIGHT ALL NIGHT OVER "PORK BAR'L" BILL

Burton Leads Filibuster and Continuous Session Is Held. President Said to Favor Cut.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—In a desperate effort to break down the opponents of the rivers and harbors bill carrying an appropriation of $38,000,000, the Senate Democrats forced an all-night session. Chairman of the bill, led by Senators Sheppard, of Texas; Bryan, of Florida; Robinson, of Arkansas; and Simmons, of North Carolina, are endeavoring to prevent the compromise on a $20,000,000 lump appropriation, which is under discussion in the Commerce Committee.

A report that the President had indicated a desire for a bill not to exceed $12,000,000 to $16,000,000 was a bomb shell among friends of the measure in the Senate today. When out by their long night they expressed disbelief that the President would have taken such a decided stand without consulting Senators on the committee.

I do not believe that the President would take such action without consulting me," said Senator Simmons. One prominent Senator, who has played a large part in fighting the bill, declared that the President would have to veto the bill if it is passed by the Senate, and that any effort which the White House might make at this time towards shaping the bill came too late to be effective.

BURTON'S DETERMINED FIGHT. Senator Burton had the floor from 10:55 Friday night until 4:35 this morning. In that period of 12 hours and 39 minutes four hours and a half were consumed in roll calls and various interruptions. Shortly after 4 this morning Senator Kenyon took the floor and held it with interruptions for quorum calls until 9:45. At that hour there was a call for a quorum and about 10 o'clock Senator Burton, who had had an hour's sleep and breakfast, resumed. He seemed in good form, though his voice was husky. The whole Senate was in a bad temper. The advocates of the bill were bent on holding the Senate in session until a vote could be forced and motions to adjourn were repeatedly voted down. Whenever it was possible during the long and exhausting session the filibusters demanded a quorum call and the speakers enjoyed brief rests. Several times calls for a quorum failed to develop a sufficient number of Senators and a squad of deputy sergeant-at-arms bearing writs of arrest were sent out in taxicabs to bring in the absentees. Senator James Hamilton Lewis, the Democratic whip of the Senate, was hailed from his bed by the Army and Navy Club by a deputy after the latter had threatened to arrest servants at the club because they refused to disturb Senator Lewis.

Senator Burton spoke slowly during the long hours of the night, evidently using his strength. He soon discarded his frock coat and got into an alpaca jacket, and replaced his shoes for bedroom slippers. In this costume he plodded up and down the aisle, before a number of maps to which he now and then referred.

The determined effort to wear Burton all his friends had been illustrated just after Burton surrendered the floor temporarily at 4 o'clock this morning. He was attempting to get over to his office for a nap when arrested by a deputy sergeant-at-arms and halberdiers. The Senate to help constitute a quorum. He had enjoyed one little nap, however, in the President's room during one of the quorum calls last night. After a short nap this morning he returned to the Senate restaurant for breakfast.

SENATOR WILLIAMS WHISTLES. In the interval between the call for a quorum and the completion of the call, the chamber was practically deserted. Senator Ashurst, who occupied the chair, was forced at one time to call Senator Williams to order because he whistled. "How Day I am!" in the chamber.

Senator Burton forced a vote on a motion to recommit the bill with instructions to strike out many of the items. The vote showed it to be against the motion to recommit.

After Senator Kenyon took the floor this morning he made a call for a quorum and during the wait Senator Randall proposed that the sergeant-at-arms be directed to request the attendance of all Senators now out of the city, as the earlier order had applied only to those in the city. Senator Kenyon endeavored to have an amendment inserted exempting those Senators who are engaged in political campaigns. The Randall motion was agreed to, however, without the Kenyon amendment.

SENATORIAL ENDURANCE TEST. The feat was actually an endurance contest, with Burton as the leading foe of the Democrats, who forced the all-night session in an effort to break the filibuster through physical exhaustion of Burton as leader of the opposition.

Democratic Senators took "shifts" in presiding. They "spelled" each other as president of the Senate, working in relays to avoid fatigue. The all-night session was the first continuous night session since the "justification" resolution last spring when the Mexican situation was before the Senate. Burton's filibuster rivaled in length and tenacity the famous 17-hour speech of Senator La Follette several years ago.

The conference will open with mass in Gibbon's Hall chapel tomorrow morning. President Wilson will receive the visitors at the White House at 2:15 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

J. J. HILL ADVISES CAUTION. Business People Should Be Prudent In View of War. ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 15.—James J. Hill, when asked as to the probable effect of the European war on general business conditions, replied that he was not a prophet or the son of a prophet, but he advised the people to be prudent and careful, and not to bite off more than they could chew.

PHILA. AUTOISTS HURT AS CAR DROPS THROUGH BRIDGE

Injured In an Accident That Occurred Near Scranton. Four Philadelphians were injured yesterday afternoon, when a touring car broke through the planks of a bridge spanning a creek between Glen Home and Daleville, six miles east of Scranton. They are: Mrs. W. H. Walls, said to live at 2215 North 33d street, left arm broken; John A. Green, of 21st and Westmoreland streets, right ankle sprained and severe bruise and burn; Miss May Green, niece of Mr. Green, right wrist sprained and severe bruise; S. P. Mullins, son of a Philadelphia hotel proprietor, who sustained fractures of three ribs. The party was making a trip from the Pocono Mountains to Scranton in a touring car, said to weigh 3000 pounds, which proved too heavy for the bridge where the accident occurred. The planking gave way and the car overturned, all but Mullins being pinned beneath it. He succeeded in getting the two women out and was trying to help Green, when help came with the arrival of another car. The injured were taken to Scranton on a Lackawanna train last night.

HIS OCCUPATION GONE, PRINCE OSKAR'S CHEF BEGINS LAND VOYAGE

Adorned With Trophies From Fatherland, Joseph Westemeier Starts on Long Deferred Visit to Brother in Ohio. Joseph Westemeier, the chef-in-chief aboard the steamship Prinz Oskar, quit the ship today. He is going to visit a brother in Hoytsville, Ohio. He has not seen the brother for years because the chef was too busy to make calls in the States so far from the seaboard. The Prinz Oskar has her mud anchors out near the League Island yard. Being a German liner with a decidedly Teutonic name, the Prinz Oskar is taking no chances by going to sea. The officers and crew of the ship were hopeful of making a home port under the protection of a German subport.

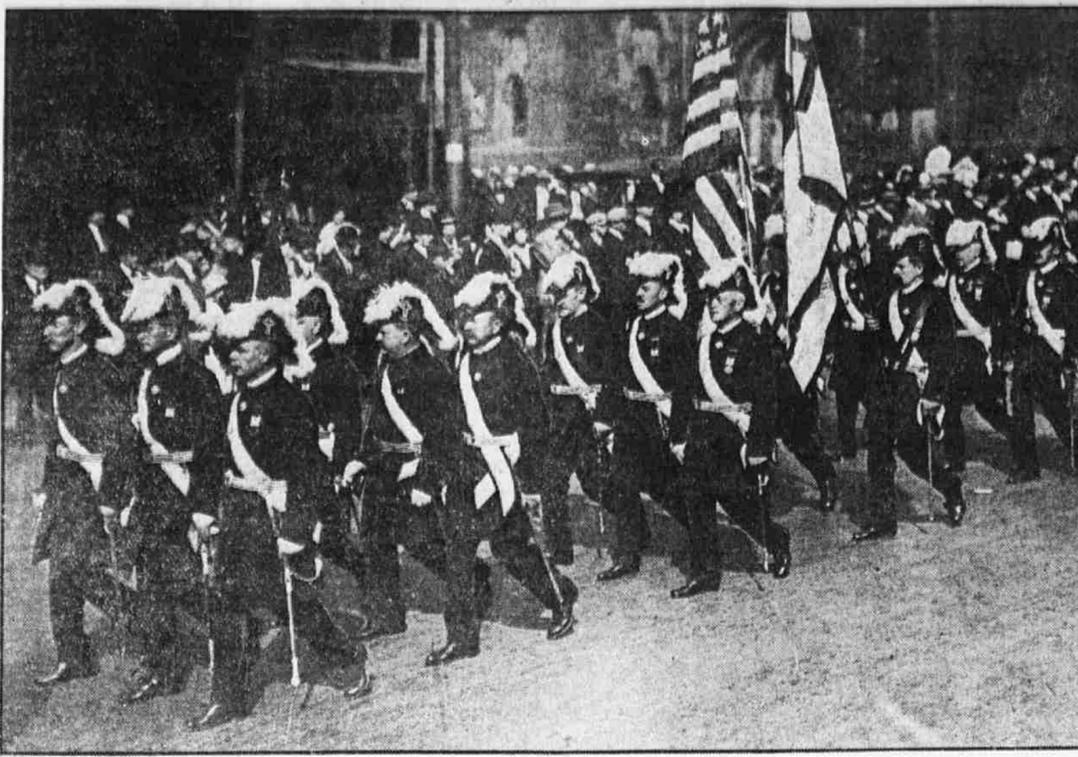

50,000 INVOKE PEACE ON THE FIELD DAY OF KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Impressive Scene on Belmont Plateau Mark Annual Drill of Pennsylvania Division No. 1. More than 50,000 heads were bared or bowed today on the Belmont Plateau when prayers, some audible and some breathed out in silence, were offered pleading for the restoration of peace in Europe. The supplicants were Knights Templar and their visitors. The Templars of the Pennsylvania Division No. 1 decided upon the petition for Divine Intercession in the war when President Wilson by a proclamation asked the people of the United States to pray for peace. The Templars opened their fourteenth Field Day with the prayer. In brilliant uniforms with hands clasped across the hilts of their swords and heads bared the Knights made a striking picture in the strong sunlight on the plateau. Beneath the trees and from high vantage spots thousands of persons gazed on reverently. Mayor Blankenburg, himself a Knight Templar, Governor Tener, B. E. Sir A. Howard Thomas, Grand Commander of Pennsylvania, and his staff, in addition to many other guests and prominent Knights Templar from New York, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and other cities, attended the ceremony. The eleven commanderies of Philadelphia and vicinity which participated in the military review and prayer assembled at the Masonic Temple at 1 o'clock, and from there were taken to Fairmount Park in special trains from Broad Street Station. After reaching the Belmont Plateau the commanderies lined up in military formation and the ceremonies were opened by the striking of a salute to the national colors. The knights then were drawn up for inspection and a dress parade, preparatory to the main feature, the offering of the prayer. The dress parade was held in honor of Sir A. Howard Thomas, Grand Commander of Pennsylvania, Division Commander E. Sir Thomas Patton led the parade and headed the picturesque columns during the inspection. He was accompanied by the following staff, all of whom were mounted: Eminent Sirs J. Henry Williams, Barry H. Heist, James H. Kelly, A. Lincoln Castle, Thomas Hiddle Ellis, John E. White, James A. Parke, W. Fred Land Kendrick, Francis J. Callahan, George J. Schaeffer, J. Waelder McMillen, Eugene J. McAleer, William H. Ma-neely, Robert L. Buehler, McLuney Radcliffe, Robert G. Smith, August P. Kunzig, Wesley E. Rose, William D. Clouds, George K. Riehl, Samuel W. Mitchell, Wesley R. Morgan, Vincent Saul, Ernest F. Apeldorn, Burd P. Evans, Louis U. Strassburger, Leslie J. Pyle and Charles R. Palmer. The knights were under the command of Sir Knight James Robinson, of Corinthian Commandery, as field adjutant, assisted by Sir Knight William M. Matos, of Mary Commandery, No. 38, assistant field adjutant. Eminent Sir Hayes H. Duncan, of St. John's Commandery, No. 1, as field officer of the day, had complete charge of the grounds. Corinthian "Chasseur" Commandery, the only mounted commandery of Knights Templar in Pennsylvania, had several hundred mounted men in the review. This commandery acted as escort to Grand Commander Thomas and his staff. One of the features of the parade and program. This band will give a special concert tonight, when the events will be closed by a fireworks display. The following commanderies participated in the event: Philadelphia, No. 2, E. Sir William J. St. John's, No. 1, E. Sir Thomas H. S. No. 3, commander. Kadosh, No. 29, E. Sir William B. Murphy, commander. No. 36, E. Sir James E. M. Keller, commander. No. 47, E. Sir Joseph H. Nohls, commander. Corinthian "Chasseur," No. 33, E. Sir Louis H. de la Roche, commander. Pennsylvania, No. 19, E. Sir Alexander Adams, commander. Germantown, No. 52, E. Sir J. Eliza Ross, commander. Chester, No. 66, of Chester, Pa., E. Sir Heston, commander. Broadview, No. 56, of West Chester, E. Sir The E. Jarlan, commander. Kensington, No. 64, E. Sir Ed. M. Crawley, commander.

MAIL INSURANCE FEE FIXED. Burleson Orders Five-Cent Charge on Fourth Class Mail. A five-cent insurance fee for fourth-class mail has been fixed by Postmaster General Burleson in an order received here today providing that mail of this class shall not be registered. Another provision of the order is that indemnity will not be allowed in case of loss of fourth class mail addressed to the Philippine Islands unless the loss occurs in the postal service of the United States. The order becomes effective at once.

ORANG-OUTANGS PASS CENSORSHIP AT ZOO

Villa and Sylvia Declared Free of Tubercular Ailment. Villa, of Berne, and his mate Sylvia, the orang-outangs purchased by the Zoological Garden a little less than two months ago, have now passed the health censor at the Zoo and are regular members of society there. Although members of the higher ape families are difficult to raise in this climate, authorities at the Zoo now believe that this pair will live at least five years. The animals were purchased from Louis Rhuie, a New York animal dealer, who got them from the engineer and boatwain of a tramp steamship. They came to the local Zoo June 22, and were immediately isolated for observation. Such animals are specially susceptible to tubercular infection, but Dr. Herbert Fox, the Zoo pathologist, is now assured that Villa and Sylvia are sound of lung. The orang-outangs will be placed on exhibition with the chimpanzee about October 1. Villa, the male, is equipped with a coat of coarse red, brown and black hair, while Sylvia's coat is of the same coloring, but finer. Superintendent Carson, of the Zoo, is surrounding the pair with every safeguard to prevent a repetition of what happened at the Bronx Zoo, in New York, where the entire collection was wiped out by tuberculosis. In addition to being perfectly matched as to size, the orangs are well mated and so far their domestic affairs have not been marred by a single "scrap." The exact sum paid for the pair has not been divulged, but is said to be high. Each animal is two years old. The formation of their hands and finger-nails compares well with the human hand.

The photographs show the men marching to Belmont Plateau, where they asked Divine intercession to end the European war. The leader on horse back in the lower picture is Eminent Sir Louis H. Groh, commander of Corinthian "chasseur," the only mounted commandery in the State.

"JOKER" SENDS FALSE ALARMS

Six Companies Summoned to Fake Fire Early This Morning. Practical jokers, who have been turning in false alarms at various fire boxes in the Kensington section, will receive no mercy if caught by the police. The jokers have been going on for the last few weeks, and the police and fire companies of that district have become desperate, declaring that a false alarm rung in at the Gaeder Adamson Company's box on Allegheny avenue, east of Richmond street, this morning is the last straw. The call was registered at 4:57 this morning, and six engines companies responded—two trucks, two battalion chiefs, one truck and one chemical engine—but found that there was neither trace of fire nor of the perpetrator of the so-called joke.

Photos of War Action and Peace Maneuvers in Sunday's Intaglio

Just now it's interesting to compare American preparedness with European fighting efficiency. You will see examples of both in Sunday's Intaglio—scenes on foreign battlefields and the serious business of putting our own house in order as shown by camera shots of the recent maneuvers at League Island. You'll be interested, too, in the Intaglio's portrait studies of Ambassadors, prominent political candidates and other national figures, society men and women at the Newport Horse Show and familiar faces that smile upon you as the curtain goes up this season.
